Party Game Innovation

Berkeley, CA, 06/11/2007- TableStar Games brings new life to the classic party game with its newest release, Martinis & Men by taking the standard party game and made it more customer friendly.

Martinis & Men is compact- about the size of a paperback book- making it highly portable unlike the monstrous boxes in which most party games come. It has simple, intuitive rules that don't require sharing or embarrassing acting out. And, unlike most party games, Martinis & Men is just as much fun to play with two people as it is with eight people making it enjoyable in many different party configurations.

"We took a fun party game and made it fashion friendly for today's woman." explains Maggie Elkin, one of the designers of Martinis & Men.

Martinis & Men is a card game in which players match up couples in hopes of love at first sight. The first player with three married couples wins. But watch out, home wreckers and wedding fever can break up even the best of matches. With fun graphics and colorful characters, every player is bound to find at least one person in the deck they know.

Martinis & Men is available at many online and specialty retailers across the United States and Canada. It has a MSRP of $14.95.
